- ❖ THE - "Agile university leadership for a new era of progress" 16-18 November 2022

Universities have a critical responsibility and huge opportunity to shape the world in which we live. Higher education institutions host hundreds of millions of students globally and invest billions of dollars to understand and improve life on Earth. The effective leadership and management of these institutions is therefore vital; this summit will focus on the challenges that leaders face today and how they can best prepare themselves for the years ahead.

The future is predicted to be dominated by: exponential advances in technology, energy, biology and manufacturing; a shift eastwards and towards Africa in the search for resources; and a global environmental emergency.

In anticipation of this, the THE Leadership & Management Summit 2022 will explore the following questions:

- What are the key leadership skills that will be required to run successful higher education institutions in the future?
- How can universities and their management structures come together to redesign a higher education model fit for students, staff and society?
- How can the next generation of university leaders develop the skills or receive the necessary training to meet the challenges they will face?

The summit will also feature the exclusive live reveal of the THE World Reputation Rankings 2022 which showcase the top universities with the best reputations as determined by academics around the world.

The summit will be broadcast from a studio in London. Delegates will be able to join in-person in London or participate virtually.
